T & C Fair Plans

Cotton Show, New

Contests, Parade

Plans for Cameron's third annual Town & Country Fair set for August 5, 6, and 7 continue with three new events now set and others in the planning stages, according to T&C chairman Monroe Fuchs.

A Cotton Show, featuring special guest, style show, cotton promotional exhibits and special feature exhibits, has been set in addition to the T&C parade and Ugly Man's contest.

The Cotton Show, being held in conjunction with Milam County Cotton Promotion Week, will be sponsored by the Buckholts Gin, Modern Gin and Cen-Tex Oil Mill. Phil Summers of the National Cotton Council of America will be special guest and will speak on Cotton's Influence in the World Today at 7 p.m. August 5.

The following style show will be presented with garments from local merchants, J. C. Penney's, The Leader, McIntosh's and Viv Rae's National Cotton Council Garments will also be shown.

Special Features exhibits will have eleven phases including the farmer's story, cotton insect and disease exhibit, micronair cotton testing equipment, importance of cotton, cotton seed oil exhibit, cotton textile story, consumer buying qualities, care of cottons, arts and crafts, cotton stretch exhibit and national cotton garment exhibit.

Milam County Home Demonstration Agent Anna Marie Ramke is chairman of the cotton show.

UGLY MAN CONTEST

Organizations, businesses and individuals are sponsoring contestants for the event planned to add fun and humor to the country-style fair.

The Ugly Man Contest will be another first and the winner will be decided by the number of votes in the ballot boxes. The boxes will be placed in various business houses in downtown Cameron. The contestant with the greatest amount of pennies will be crowned the Ugly Man of 1965.

Dick Wyatt, promotion chairman for the T&C fair, announced that all clubs, organizations and businesses of Cameron are invited to join in the downtown parade on Thursday, August 5 at 4 p.m.

He stressed that there is no emphasis on elaborate or detailed floats but that participation is the main objective to advertise the fair.

Wilson Elliott New Assistant Coach

Wilson Elliott of Temple has been employed as assistant coach at Yoe High School. He will succeed Andy Springer who has resigned to enter private business in Abilene.

Elliott, 25, comes to Cameron from Corsicana where he has been coaching junior high football for two years.

He is a graduate of Temple High School and Sam Houston State College.

The new coach is married and has a four year old daughter.

He will assume his duties in Cameron August 31.

WILSON ELLIOTT

If a person's property is on the rolls at $1,000, he would pay only $1.42, cents more each year than at present.

A person with a $5,000 house now has a figure of only $7.50 on the tax roll and pays $7.13 per year. The proposed increase would raise his tax roll figure to $32.50, and he would pay $8.19 per year, an increase of only $1.06.

Persons with a $20,000 home has $30.00 on the tax roll. He pays $28.50 per year. The proposed increase would up his tax roll figure to $132.49, and he would pay $32.78 per year, tax increase of only $4.28 per year.

To illustrate the increase on a larger taxpayer: If a person has total properties of $50,000, his figure on the tax roll is $7,500. His present tax payment is $71.25 per year. The proposed increase would boost his tax payment from $71.25 to $81.94, an increase of only $10.69.

Illustrations were released by County Judge Don Humble.

Heavy Rain, Wind

Damage Area Crops

Heavy rains and wind storms his parts of Milam County last Thursday while Cameron was on the fringe of the storm line and received only a sprinkle.

In Yarrington four inches of rain was reported with heavy crop damage resulting from the moisture and the strong winds.

Hitting the area about 5 p.m., the rain ripped through the Buckholts area and flattened a mile-wide strip of crops in its path. Joe Vrazel, Buckholts, said maize damage through his farm was heavy.

School Registration

Forms Now Available

New "freedom of choice" school registration forms are now available, according to the school superintendent's office.

The new forms completed with minor changes will replace those distributed at the end of the school year. The forms can be obtained at the tax office, superintendent's office or O. J. Thomas school office.

Registration forms must be returned to the school on August 2, 3, or 4th.

BACKGROUND REPORT

By Lois Sapp
Milam County's courthouse, constructed in 1892, will undergo its second architectural change under the proposed expansion and renovation plan.

The aged stone building will be changed into one of brick and stone with a contemporary design and at the same time relieve crowded conditions that presently exist at the courthouse.

A year after the $75,000 building was erected, an ornate clock tower was added.

During the following years more changes were made on the interior to handle the growing number of offices. The basement was utilized by the county clerk and tax collector-assessor offices.

In 1938 a renovation project was done by the Public Work Administration for a cost of $23,932. The PWA paid half the cost while the county paid the remainder.

STRUCTURE CHANGE
During the renovation the clock tower was removed, changing the architectural scale once again. The Ben Milam statue was erected on the southwest corner of the grounds during this time.

Again in 1950 talk was started that the building was out of date—more offices were added—more space was needed. But nothing was done.

In 1960 the courthouse took on a new look when the building was sandblasted. It emerged from the accumulated soot and grime, white and shiny.

Last year the second floor of the courthouse underwent partial

Lester Home Built Late In 1890's

By Frank M. Luecke

Another of the historic homes in Cameron is the subject of this story, the Lester home, a large two-story structure at 1810 North Fannin. It is the fifth of a continuing series on historic homes in Cameron. — Ed.

A fascinating fellow by the name of I. N. Barber built the Lester home about 1897, on a tract of land of about six acres, most of which since have been sold or subdivided.

Barber must have been an independent fellow. He operated the Farmer's Alliance store, part of which is now included in the South side of the Courthouse Square.

Herald history consultant John

B. Henderson Sr. recalls that Barber was head of the Populist Party in Milam County, a left of center political party extant in Texas at the century's turn.

He onetime ran for state office on the Populist ticket, probably about the time the large home on North Fannin was built.

'UNCLE PINK'

An equally interesting man, E. P., "Uncle Pink" Lester, a mayor of Cameron in the early 1910-20 period, bought the house from Barber along with E. D. Atkinson, then including the six acres and the then new house. Lester later became sole owner.

Henderson notes that "Uncle Pink" remained a bachelor and See Picture Page Two correction when the district courtroom was remodeled. Ceilings were lowered, new floor covering installed, walls painted, air-conditioning and new lighting installed. The work, as it was in 1960, was done on a pay-as-you go basis and no increase in taxes was noted.

This was still not enough to correct the building to adequately handle the offices and volumes of records, jury quarters, basement conditions, ventilation problems, restroom facilities.

MODERN ERA

Changes in courthouse facilities through the years have been necessitated through the modernization of every phase of life by the countians who live here.

Milam County has had four different buildings which have served as a courthouse, each growing in style and structure to keep up with the times.

All four have been located on the same site and the first was built in 1846. It was a rude structure of small dimensions, about 30 by 20 feet, with upright studding mortised into stills and plates, weather boarded on the outside, floored with planks and covered with boards ripped and shaved.

Next came a two-story frame building with a long hall. On the second floor was a large room where trials were held and at times community dances.

COURTHOUSE BURNED
In 1874 the courthouse burned to the ground and all of its contents went with it.

Milam County's third courthouse was not built until two years later, in 1876. During that time they used quarters in an old hotel located nearby.

Times were progressing and the third courthouse was made of brick and wood and was 50 by 60 feet. The cost was about $11,000 and since the county did not have enough funds, citizens donated to the fund to make up the difference.

Water was added in 1880 by a cistern which held some 300 gallons of water. An iron fence was erected to keep livestock off the courthouse yard.

Within a few years, it became apparent that a first class courthouse building was needed since defects were rapidly developing. The foundation settled causing walls to crack and the roof went bad.

In 16 years the courthouse was torn down and the present one constructed.

RESIDENTS DECIDE
Now after 73 years of continual use, officials find the structure needs to be completely remodeled and expanded.

They will be putting the project before the public in a vote August 7 for a $407,670 bond election for the courthouse plan. (see tax story page 1)

The fate of this $120,000 jail plan will be placed before the voters of Milam County on August 7. (see tax story page 1)

Milano To Launch Improvements

Some 50 Milano leaders are expected to attend a Community Improvement meeting scheduled for Thursday, July 22.

The meeting will be held at the Milano school at 8 p.m. Purpose is to organize and set up a program of community improvements.

Henry Kirk, Community Improvement Specialist with Texas Power & Light Co., of Dallas, will be the featured speaker.

Also on the program will be TP&L Farm Service Advisor, Winfred McCoy of Taylor, Shelby Smith, Milano community leader, is helping to set up the meeting. The program of community improvement is set up through the Texas A&M Extension service in cooperation with the Milam County Agricultural Agent's office and TP&L.

Local TP&L manager, Henry Siebman, said the meeting is an outgrowth of a Milam rural community meeting held in Minerva in May.

At that time Reagan Brown, rural sociologist of Texas A&M University, challenged about 70 Milam Community leaders to modernize their rural centers for modern life.

He told of rural communities throughout Texas that have organized and improved their homes, farming practices and way of life.

Brown advised that they make a list of things they have and things they don't want and to go to work.

Thursday's meeting will be an effort to do just that. Plan projects to fix-up and paint-up and in general make their community a better place in which to live. The sociologist said about 900 communities are enrolled in the Texas Community Improvement program in the state with total awards of about $16,000.

Home Demonstration agent Anna Marie Ramke said the program is designated for farm and unincorporated communities in the state. Cash awards of $6,780 will go to the top winner. The fund is made available by electric utility companies in the state. The communities participating will be judged on the amount of improvements accomplished in a year's time.

Cameron Library

Board Approves

Completed Plans

Cameron's new library building project plans gained final approval last Friday when the library board met with David Carnahan, project architect of Waco.

Completed plans will be taken for final approval to the state this week. Following the approval, officials expect to call for bids on the $80,000 library and facilities in early August.

E. A. Perrin, library board member, said that additional work is being done this week on the air-conditioning portion of the plan. All other specifications and plans were approved.

The revised plans call for a structure of over 4,000 feet. The original style and type of building will be the same with the exception of the roofing. The roofing will be on steel beams rather than prestressed concrete making the building some 18 inches taller.

The size of the reading and assembly room will be 32 x 40 feet, also larger than originally planned.

DON'T BE MISLED

Agriculture's importance to the economy of Texas is not determined by the number of people living on farms and ranches. And, points out John McHaney, Extension economist at Texas A&M University, don't be misled by the fact that only 8 per cent of the state's residents derive all or part of their income by supplying production items for farmers or by processing or distributing agricultural products for consumer use.

THE LESTER HOME

Council Appoints

Airport Board,

Reviews Projects

City Councilmen appointed an Airport Advisory Committee and reviewed street improvement plans at the ri last meeting.

Mayor Bassel Wilson said the new committee is composed of Narvie Caperton, State Rep. Milton Schiller, Bob Wells and E. L. Wied. The group became active immediately and held their first session Tuesday, he said.

They also accepted the resignation of John Eanes, Cameron fire marshal. Eanes has been connected with the volunteer fire department for 33 years, city officials noted.

Councilmen approved the advisory committee and said it would work with the city council on continued plans for the new proposed Cameron airport. Application is now being prepared for consideration by state officials and the years, later sold the house to A. E. Schiller, who sold it back to Lester about 1939. Since that time, Lester deeded the house to his sister, Mrs. Minta Hollingsworth, who still lives there.

Ray Lester, Merlin Lester and Mrs. Sam Harrell, all of Cameron, are nephews and niece of "Uncle Pink" Lester.

Federal Aviation Agency for state funds for the new airport.

Street paving and curb and gutter work was a second main item to gain the council's consideration.

Eighth and 13th Street paving prospects are being planned on a participation basis; continuing of paving on 6th Street from Hwy. 77 to Jackson and on to the railroad tracks; one block on Washington Street and one block on Jefferson Street.

Leveling for paving is presently underway on 22nd Street from Hwy. 77 to the Country Club by the county workmen. Work is under the direction of LaVert McKinney.

The city is planning to get a workable Master Plan of the city for additional sewer, water, paving and sidewalk projects in downtown and the residential area of Cameron.

Quarterback Club

To Meet Tuesday

The Cameron Quarterback Club will hold its first kickoff meeting of the 1965 year at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, according to President Gene Smitherman.

The group will meet at First Methodist Fellowship Hall for planning activities for the 1965 YHS grid season.

FIRST IN AREA

People traveled out by the house over the years, Henderson recalls, and stopped to visit on their way to and from Cameron. For many years, it was one of only two homes in that side of Cameron. And North Fannin used to be one of the major thoroughfares north into the county.

Apparently it was built in that period of Cameron's development when quite a number of large two-story homes were constructed as the town grew north.

A nearby home was the Judge Terrell residence, both of which were built years before the Cameron Athletic Field (Yoe Field) was filled in where once a pond gathered water. It was on the east side of the street past the present athletic field.

Such homes recall that earlier era of Cameron's development.

All-Star Baseball

Sports Special

About 70 Minor League baseball players have been participating on five teams this summer with the champions determined last week when the Hustlers won their ninth straight victory.

However, they suffered their first loss Monday at the hands of the second place Giants.

With David Hollas in the mound, they held the Hustlers to one run in the first inning while they scored three. John Barron, pitching for the Hustlers, pitched a no hitler with the three Giant scores coming on two walked scores and an error.

The game left the Hustlers with a 8-1 record and the Giants with a 6-5 record.

The Giants were edged last Thursday by the Yankees in an exciting 1-0 ball game. Kenny Leonard was on the mound for the Yankees while David Hollas took the loss for the Giants.

The Yankees took a second win Tuesday when they defeated the White Sox 8-0. With Gary Fuchs on the mound, the Yankees held the White Sox scoreless and didn't score themselves until the third inning. They racked in five in the third and three more in the fourth. Kenny Dusek hit two home runs accounting for seven of the Yankee scores.

The two Yankee wins give them a 6-5 record to tie with the Giants for second place in the league. Today the Lions blasted the White Sox 14-4 to chalk up their fifth win of the season. It gave the White Sox a 1-11 record. Gary Hornung pitched for the Lions and Mike Mueck was on the mound for the White Sox.

They are: Griffin Barrett, president, Terry Hardwick, vice president and Bill Watkins, secretary-treasurer.

Pony League Teams

Schedule 3 Games

Cameron's two Pony League teams have been taking their games as they come and have three more scheduled, according to Coach Nubly Moore.

The teams will play Rogers Friday and Monday and then meet the Little League All-Stars Wednesday.

The boys may not have had a set schedule, but they have managed several games and last Wednesday the larger group of Pony League boys suffered their second loss when the outsiders defeated them 13-0.

Saturday Rogers defeated the Pony League number two team 10-4. Corona was pitching for the Cameron team and Springer was on the mound for the winning team.

This 26 strong group of young talented baseball enthusiasts should be in fine shape for a season of planned ball next year.

MURRAY GO ROUND

By Tom Murray

"Mrs. Houston," the energetic sixth-grade lass called. "Mrs. Houston," she said again, breathlessly, as she caught up to the little lady who had been her second-grade teacher four years previously.

"Mrs. Houston, I got to go to the Astro dome," the young lady chirped.

"That is very exciting news in our community," says the little teacher who has taught school in the Three Rivers vicinity over 40 years.

"Everybody is excited about the Astro dome," she continued, "and it is amazing how many have gone to view it and return to tell about what they saw."

Since Three Rivers is over 230 miles from Houston, it is an exciting thing to realize people are pouring out of that section, between San Antonio and Corpus Christi, to take in the wonders of Roy's Roundhouse and the exciting new Astro baseball team.

More amazing, perhaps, is the very fact Mrs. Houston would relate these facts, since in all those years she has never seen a professional baseball game. Many a rodeo, for that is cowboy country, but no baseball.

"No, I'm not going," she says with a smile, "but our people certainly are."

SHORT SPORTS —

Fans are pouring into Houston from everywhere, some from several states away, but they keep coming. Over 1000 took the $1 tour the Saturday afternoon last time Casey Stengel's New York Mets were in town. Frank Luecke, the Cameron Herald publisher, says Central Texas fans are still exclaiming over the scoreboard. everytime a storm forecast hits the breeze. Tens of school buses, loaded, and bearing some French Parish name foreign to our Irish background, were headed back to the great state of Louisiana. . . . Sandwiching the yellow school transportation were hundreds of packed autos with Louisiana registration.

The Astros have a very good chance of moving into the first division next summer, even in their rugged National League. Lam-Harris has a lineup, right now, which could approach that station. Give 'em a major-league shortstop, catcher and perhaps one more outfielder and they can stand nose-to-nose with any of 'em. . . . Some folks gripe in the midst of abundance, like some who complain in the Astro dome. But, all they would have to do is visit aging Fabres Field, home of the Pittsburgh Pirates to get their minds changed. . . . Did you know Astor Coach Clint Courtney had a lifetime major league batting average and is in the record book for making an unassisted double play twice during ing his career? When Birdie Tebbels, Cleveland manager, was a member of the Red Sox, he called his teammates, "Morenic Malcontents."

You're giving us an important order when you call across town or across the nation. You say in effect . . .

"Give me some wire (not just any kind and it may take thousands of miles of it) and cable, some electronic equipment, and whatever else is needed.

"I may need the services of an operator. I want all your equipment to work perfectly. I want to reach just one of the millions of telephones in the United States. And I want to hear and be heard.

"When I get through with this call, I want you to be ready to deliver another one on an instant's notice. I may not want it for an hour, or a day or two.

"It may be at noon or midnight. It may be a call across the street, the state, the nation, or beyond. I can't tell now. But I want you to be ready whenever I call."

Telephone people in Texas "deliver" millions of telephone calls every day and find nothing unusual in the request. But to do it at the price you pay for telephone service . . . in fact, to do it at all . . . has taken the most skillful research, engineering, and organization.

Candlelight Ceremony Unites Miss Lenora Malone, Mr. Krueger

Miss Lenora Ann Malone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Malone of Milano and Mr. Douglas Gene Krueger, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Krueger, Taylor, were married Saturday evening in the Milano Methodist Church.

The Rev. George Doss of Rockdale performed the double ring ceremony before an altar lighted by burning tapers in candelabras accented with greenery and bows. Traditional wedding music was presented by Miss Gladys Kornegay, soloist and Miss Linda Bullock, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length sheath gown of white bridal satin. The bodice of chantilly lace was fashioned with a scalloped neckline and long sleeves. The train, attached by a lace belt at the waist, flowed from the hips to form a chapel train.

Her finger-ring veil fell from a crown of seed pearls and crystal beads. She carried a white feathered carnation bouquet centered with a white orchid. Her jewelry was a single string of pearls and her grandmother's ruby ring.

The bride's sister, Miss June Malone of Houston, was maid of honor. Matron of honor was Mrs. Johnny Ryan of Brenham. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Kenneth Krueger of San Angelo and Miss Cynthia Ford of Houston. Bertha Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Odie Mills of Milano, was flower girl. Attendants wore street-length dresses of yellow peau de soie with matching satin shoes and a chiffon and tulle head-dress. They carried single white carnations with greenery and yellow ribbon.

Mr. Kenneth Krueger served his brother as bestman. Groomsmen were Gary Krueger, brother of the groom, Kenneth Heselmeyer and Jim Fox. Ushers were Steve Malone and Wayne Ford.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. A. J. Hilderbrandt following the ceremony. Miss Joann Ford of Houston registered guests.

White lace over yellow covered the bride's table. Centering the table was an arrangement of white gladioli. Presiding at the table were Misses Priscilla Mills, Gloria Mills and Linda Wise.

Following a short wedding trip the couple will make their home in Van Vleck, Texas, where both will be members of the school faculty.

The bride is a graduate of Milano High School and Southwest Texas State College where she majored in Home Economics. Mr. Krueger is a graduate of Taylor High School and Southwest Texas State College with a degree in mathematics.

The bride, her mother, Mrs. Wesley Malone and Mrs. August Krueger, mother of the prospective bridegroom, received white carnation corsages accented with yellow tulle and ribbon.

The bride's chosen colors of yellow and white were used in the decorations. The registration table was covered with a white cloth centered with a bride's bouquet. Miss Linda Wise registered the guests. The gift table was centered with an arrangement of yellow roses which had an imitation water fountain shimmering from the center.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a white crocheted table cloth over yellow. An arrangement of daisies and crystal table appointments completed the setting. Mrs. Johnny Ryan served the guests.

Mrs. Charlie Robinson and Mrs. Vel Wise of Liberty Community, Mrs. Luthen Walker of Milano and Mrs. Johnny Ryan of Brenham were hostesses.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a street-length suit of white imported lace, trimmed in white silk crepe. Her bouquet of orchids and stephanites was atop a white lace and satin covered bride's Bible, a gift from her grandmother, Mrs. Powell.

Her only attendant was her cousin, Miss Judith Van Nicholson, Houston, who wore a street-length silk linen suit of shell pink. She carried a cascade of white carnations, frosted in shell pink with loveknots flowing from it.

For something old, the bride wore a gold cross belonging to her aunt, Mrs. Mack Nicholson. The cross was a gift to Mrs. Nicholson from her father when she was a small child.

USDA Secretary's Statement . . .

Omnibus Bill Offers Changes For Cotton

This is the complete text of a statement concerning the 1965 Farm Bill, following Secretary Freeman's testimony July 12 before the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry. He terms its effect on cotton the most significant since 1933, the year federal farm programs began in earnest. --Ed.

Statement by Orville L. Freeman, Secretary, Department of Agriculture. This is in response to numerous inquiries on cotton legislation, received by the Department of Agriculture as a result of my testimony before the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry last Thursday, and as a result of the approval by the House Agriculture Committee of the Farm Bill, H. R. 9811.

The major provisions of the House bill are:

1. The cotton law would continue the one-price approach that has increased the use of cotton in the United States this year and give cotton farmers greater freedom of choice.
2. The feed grain program which has added $3 billion to farm income the past four years would be extended, and improved.
3. An improved wheat program would boost wheat farmers' incomes by $150 million a year while reducing government costs and providing more freedom in the marketing systems.
4. A new Cropland Adjustment Program would help farmers shift a part of their allotted acreage out of crops into conservation and recreation uses -- if they wanted to -- and be paid for it.

In addition, the wool program would be continued. In order for farmers to have the benefit of any one of these programs, Congressional approval of H. R. 9811 will be required. It is already late in the season, and there is much opposition from non-farm, anti-farm, and some farm groups.

The proposed cotton legislation, if passed by the Congress, would not only extend the one-price idea that is in effect this year, it would help the government to bring under control the high costs which otherwise could wreck the entire program. We have too much cotton for our markets -- our 16 million acre allotment will produce from 3 to 4 million more bales than it produced when first established by law in 1950. Growers would have maximum freedom of choice in making use of the new program.

1. Farmers could plant within the farm domestic acreage allotment (65% of the regular allotment) and receive a higher per pound income from cotton than they are getting this year. In 1966, this return would be made up of a 21-cent price support loan and payments to bring the total price to 35.65 (higher if market price above loan).

2. Other farmers might choose to plant in excess of their farm domestic allotments -- either 75% or 85% of regular allotment -- and be eligible for loans and smaller payments which would average 32.30 or 29.73 respectively for cotton produced (again, higher if market above loan). These rates are all in excess of the 1965 guarantees.

3. Or, if a farmer chose, he could plant all the cotton he wanted without having to pay penalties. He would simply do without price support loans and payments and would depend on a market price of 21c - 22c per pound.

4. If a farmer with an allotment wants to plant no cotton, he can receive a payment of approximately $45 - $55 per acre for 15% of his allotment. He could then release the remaining 85% or transfer it to another farmer by lease or sale.

The cotton community would not suffer damage or be destroyed. Actually, cotton income would be maintained. Allotment transfers would be permitted within a county; also within the State if producers agree to such transfer in a referendum.

The Cropland Adjustment Program would assist local and area economies. It is expected that very little cotton acreage would go into the Cropland Adjustment Program -- only 628,000 acres of cotton allotment nationwide were enrolled in the Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank at its peak in the late 1950's. The new program would have a number of safeguards to minimize the impact on any one community.

The release and reapportionment program would be continued. Farmers who have been relying on release and reapportionment would not be deprived of this allotted acreage. In fact, they could acquire additional acreage permanently by purchase or on a long-term lease.

If the Farm Bill fails to pass, we would go back to the 1958 law on cotton, with price support at 65 to 90 percent of parity and continued overproduction. There would be no effective feed grains, wheat or wool programs. A continued rise in stocks of cotton would threaten the whole program, while the unfairness of the two-price system would drive American textile mills into still greater use of man-made fibers. (The use of synthetic fibers on a cotton equivalent basis already exceeds the use of cotton.) The two-price system could eventually eliminate a substantial portion of our domestic market.

The program proposed in the Omnibus Bill (H. R. 9811) would make U.S. cotton competitive -- both in the world cotton market and with synthetics here at home. The Administration is in favor of a strong cotton economy and would oppose any limitations on payments. The bill provides ways to support the income of cotton farms through other means if limitations on payments are prescribed by the Congress.

Farmers have more at stake in this proposed program than does anyone else. The problem facing cotton farmers is more critical than it has been at any other time since programs started in 1933. I hope that the vast majority of growers who stand to benefit substantially from a farm program will give serious thought to the cotton situation and the need for a sound cotton program.

The cotton provisions of the Omnibus Bill, H. R. 9811, as reported by Congressman Harold D. Cooley, Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, are not necessarily the final answer on all counts, but they do provide the foundation of a good program. And without this bill, we will return to a discredited program that can only damage grower incomes, give comfort to the competitors of American cotton, and threaten destruction of the entire program.

Economically, the coconut palm is one of the most important trees in the world.

"If electric rates are lower, why is my bill higher?"

The question is logical. The answer is simple. We're all enjoying so many more comforts and conveniences which electricity helps make possible.

Today . . . in addition to things such as irons, toasters and refrigerators which we've taken for granted for years . . . just about every household has one or more electrical appliances which only a few people owned or which didn't exist 20 years ago. Examples: air conditioners, television, clothes dryers and food freezers.

Of course, as we add electrical servants to our home, we require more electric power to operate them. But, while the use of electricity has been going up, the price has been going down. The average per-unit price of electricity used in the homes of TP&L customers is now only about one-half as much as it was 20 years ago.

So, if your electric bill is "higher than it used to be," count the electrically-operated appliances in your home. We believe you'll agree that electricity is still the biggest bargain in your family's budget.

Consider The Needs....

The status is go.

Response to the announcements of proposals for an August 7 vote on a completely renovated courthouse and new jail has been reasonable and interested.

Milam Countians are becoming aware of the needs of our Courts, county record storage, our County jail.

Milam County has no bonded indebtedness and the proposed issues of $500,000 and $150,000 for remodeled courthouse and new jail are very low per $1,000 actual valuation. County officials have announced that cost for the proposals would be a fraction over 21 cents per $1,000 actual valuation. It would be paid out over a 25-year period.

There should be little need to recount the number of jailbreaks from the historic old Milam Jail. And there is little question about the need for enlarged storage facilities and improved facilities for 20th District Court jurors.

The fact that the 20th District Court now includes Robertson and Milam Counties attests to the need for more proper facilities for District Court jurors meeting either for jury trials or grand jury sessions. We again urge you to visit these present facilities in the Courthouse and the Jail and decide for yourself.

The fact that all those people escaping from Milam Jail were returned to custody fails to justify any confidence in the present jail facilities. It attests to good law work, but it makes law enforcement the more difficult and the potential hazards to our citizens unnecessary when inmates escape.

These are fair, basic and reasonable considerations for the service our Courthouse and jail facilities should give in the 1960's. Needless to say, the jail was built in the 1880's and the present courthouse in 1891, though modified in 1939.

We continue to urge all Milam Countians to inquire into the modern needs of these facilities, just as they have inquired into the improvements in their homes, their businesses, their farms, their own job careers, their very futures.

That is where these needs are focused.... in the future. And reasonable review of these needs and services will bring reasonable, thinking people into the widening circle of Milam Countians who see the value, indeed the importance of updating our Courthouse and jail facilities.

Rising Insurance Rates Challenged

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN

Rising insurance rates continue to stir up most of the excitement in the state capital.

A Dallas attorney, Bert Bader, filed suit in the 96th District Court here challenging legality of the State Insurance Board's order boosting insurance premiums an average of 13.4 per cent.

In asking the court to set aside the recent order, which hiked some key liability and collision rates more than 20 percent, Bader maintained that the state law under which premiums are set is unconstitutional.

He also criticized the Board's allowance of 37 per cent of premium income for company expenses and its failure to consider the investment income of insurance firms in fixing rates.

Bader pointed out that Texas' laws virtually make it mandatory that Texans buy auto insurance. Therefore, the arbitrary increase in rates violates due process of law.

Another factor cited by Bader is that the Board failed to take into consideration the actual operating expenses of the insurance companies affected.

He also said that the accident rate is decreasing.

For these and other reasons he contends that the new rate, to become effective on August 1, is grossly excessive.

OIL ALLOWABLE CUT

State Railroad Commission set August oil production allowable at 2,905,312 barrels a day, a slight reduction from the July allowable of 2,911,115.

Figure is based on a formula of 28-per-cent-of-potential, compared with 28.1 per cent for July. August, 1964, allowable was 2,794,312 under a 25.5 per cent factor.

COURTS SPEAK

Texas Supreme Court decided to hear appeals from both the state and 4 Gregg County oilmen penalized $394,800 for allegedly drilling and operating a slanted oil well (1952-62) in Wood County.

Supreme Court left standing a verdict denying a $4,000,000 suit against the estate of the late San Antonio oilman, Tom Slick. Suit resulted from a uranium venture which never got off the ground.

Fourth Court of Civil Appeals had ordered the trial court to determine whether two corporations owned by Slick breached a contract to furnish funds for a Colorado uranium mill.

High court said it did not necessarily agree with lower court's opinion that only nominal damages may be recovered for loss of sales of uranium concentrate.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED
Governor Connally has announced judicial appointments in Dallas and Harris counties and named four to the State Board of Medical Examiners.

He picked First Assistant Dist. Atty. A. D. (Jim) Bowie for judge of the new Criminal District Court No. 5 of Dallas County, effective October 1.

Fred M. Hooley, formerly of Floresville and now a Houston attorney, was named judge of Harris County's new Criminal District Court No. 6, effective September 1.

Robert L. Lowry, another Houston attorney, will be judge of the new Harris County juvenile court, to be created January 1.

Dr. L. G. Ballard of Granbury was appointed to the State Board of Medical Examiners. Drs. L. H. Denman of Lufkin, Howard O. Smith of Marlin and Clarence S. Kemp of Bryan were reappointed to new terms.

SCHOOL PER CAPITA SET
State Board of Education set per capita fund apportionment to local school districts for 1965-66 at $30.65 per pupil.

Well over $200,000,000 will be man and Rains Counties.

New Coordinating Board takes over junior college jurisdiction on September 1.

A variety of new school policies was laid down by the Board of Education, including rules for new vocational school districts, special education programs and "merit pay" raises for teachers.

Chandler School District was accredited for one year probationary period.

Board advised River Road Independent School District (near Amarillo) of possible violation of accreditation standards in its unauthorized start of a ninth grade. Consideration of formal application for the additional grade will be delayed.

VANISHING BOARD

Texas Commission on Higher Education held its last meetings prior to being replaced on September 1 by the yet-to-be-named Coordinating Board for Texas Colleges and Universities.

Commission approved 23 program and reorganization proposals of state colleges and universities. In summarizing results of its nine years Commission concluded it had done a good job but wished even greater success to the new Coordinating Board.

POVERTY PROGRAMS

Governor Connally has approved application of Community Council of Austin and Travis County for a $529,706 community action grant under the Economic Opportunity Act. Project is aimed at combating causes of poverty in the capital.

Connally also announced approval of Neighborhood Youth Corps projects in New Braunfels, San Antonio, Pharr, Abilene, Daingerfield, Pasadena, Galveston and Carthage.

He said that new teaching methods at the Gary Job Corps Training Center near San Marcos (model installation in nation's war on poverty program) may well result in "a complete revamp of vocational and technical education in Texas."

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Sage Claims He Has Found Deplorable

Trend In Rash Of Resignations Lately

Dear Editor:

Sometimes when the leaders in public affairs are involved with the worries of world problems they overlook minor trends that can be seen easily from the quiet and untroubled atmosphere of this Johnson grass farm, untroubled by monsoons and De Gaulle stones.

I have been watching a trend develop over the last few weeks and I can report it has now reached serious proportions.

First General Maxwell Taylor resigned as ambassador to Viet Nam, saying he has spent over a year there and would now like to spend more time with his family.

Then the head of the U. S. Information Agency, Carl T. Rowan, resigned, saying he owed it to his family to get a better-paying job.

Next Mayor Robert Wagner of New York declined to run for reelection, saying he had an obligation to be with his children more.

Now you see what the trend is. If it keeps up, it'll get to the point where, if a man in public office announces he'll run for reelection, the public will start asking: What's he got against his family?

You can see where this will lead to. A man decides to stay in office and immediately everybody assumes he doesn't care about being with his family or his family isn't worth being with.

This will be a terrible plight, and if office-holders are smart, they'll break this trend and start giving other reasons for retiring, like "I've had enough" or "Begin here, too long," or "This is a dull job," or "If there's an answer to the problems in Viet Nam or New York City, it's beyond me." Otherwise, one of the main planks in the standard candidate's platform will be knocked out. Being a family man is about all some men run on, and frequently it works.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Outdoors In Texas

By Vern Sanford

You've heard the slogan, "Take a boy fishing." I go for that.
 But, as in everything else, there's a right way and a wrong way to go about it.

A boy wants action. If he's fishing, he wants to catch fish. If he doesn't catch 'em often, he's going to tire of the inactivity real soon.

So introduce him to the bream... better known as the perch. It's a natural-born, boy-type of fish.

Bream are present in considerable numbers almost everywhere.
 They bite anytime of the day.

They go for all kinds of bait.
 Worms, of course, are the favorite bait for this kind of fishing.

Tackle should consist of the simplest ingredients...a pole, a line, a bobber, a very light weight and a small hook.

Select a light cane pole that the kid can handle. A 6-foot pole should be long enough to start with. Rig it up right for him and explain how and why you do it.

Tie on about a 6-foot cord and fix it to the pole with a series of half-hitches extending back a foot or so from the tip.

At the end of this line make a small loop.

Into the loop tie some very light nylon leader, and let it extend to the other end of the pole.

The hook should be tiny, and a little split shot will do for a sinker.

Put a bobber on some three or four feet above the hook, depending on how deep the bream are.

If you're serious about this kid-fishing business and really want to succeed at it, you will have gone out ahead of time and discovered a good fishing hole where the bream respond willingly.

When you get there with the youngster, you'll have to bait the hook for him, at first. Show him how it's done. Be very patient.

Pretty soon he'll be wanting to do it himself, and you'll let him do it.

Caution him, of course, that the hook is sharp and will stick his finger if he isn't careful.

Now, here comes the big deal—he drops his bait in the water, at the spot you have previously selected for him.

Don't make light of it. This is a big-time operation for him.

Pretty soon his bobber is going to start moving and maybe submerge. He'll want to yank the thing hard enough to toss the fish into the next county. Instruct him to take it easy. Just give a little yank to set the hook, and then bring the fish in gently.

So the boy has caught a fish.
 Listen, that boy is just as happy as if he'd set a new record for tarpon. His first fish!

Take it off the hook for him,
 demonstrating how that's done.

If it's a fair-sized bream, so much the better. But the kid isn't going to want to toss it back regardless of its size.

If he won't go far the story that you should put him back to grow big for another day, and if you can't talk him out of keeping the little one for a pet (the fish will be happier in the creek)—why then, keep him. Maybe when the stringer is full he'll be willing to release the midgets.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"Tails He's Guilty!"

The hour was late and the jurors were weary of trying to decide whether the defendant had really committed the crime. Finally one exasperated juror proposed that they toss a coin.

"Tails he's guilty, heads he's innocent!"

Everyone agreed to abide by the toss. And in obedience to the tails that turned up, they brought in a verdict of guilty. But when the facts came to the attention of the court, the verdict was set aside.

For the law does not recognize coin-tossing as a legitimate method of doing the job of a jury. Nor does it recognize cutting cards or drawing lots, which jurors have also been known to try. At one court put it:

"Nothing short of a free and deliberate finding, made upon a conscientious conviction of the judgments of all the jurors, will satisfy the law."

Another shortcut, sometimes resorted to by a jury in fixing the amount of damages, is known as the "quotient verdict." In this method, each juror writes down how many dollars he recommends. Then the figures are added up and divided by 12 to get the final amount.

It is true that the quotient verdict is not as haphazard as the coin verdict. It is also true that such calculations could be a helpful step in the process of deliberating.

Nevertheless, courts generally frown on quotient verdicts. The main objectionable feature is the agreement, in advance, to be bound by a mathematical result - no matter how high or how low. The juror who does that abdicates his responsibility, disdains his oath, and cheats the opposing party of the "day in court" they are entitled to have.

Quite properly, jurors are reluctant to wind up deadlocked. "One jury, rather than admit defeat, brought in a verdict of "almost guilty."

And quite properly, jurors want to speed the wheels of justice. But speed is not all-important. Of what value is a quick verdict that makes a mockery of trial by jury? Better slow justice than no justice.

A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas. Written by Will Bernard.

THE HERALD'S FAMILY CORNER

IT'S A LIVING

-- by Al Johns

"I'M AFRAID YOU MISUNDERSTOOD WHAT WE MEANT BY 'BALLOON PAYMENTS'."

Nola Knows

By Nola White

Dear Nola - I am engaged to be married to a very fine young man who loves me. I believe I am in love with him, except ever so often I become foolishly infatuated with someone else. I always get over it and go back to my fiancé. Am I just kidding myself when I say I am in love with him?

Cooky
Dear Cooky - I seriously wonder about a fiancé who lets you come and go like a yo-yo. If he'd put his foot down (preferably on your neck) you'd have more respect for yourself and him, too, and might even learn to love him. As it is now, you don't. You're obviously still looking. Break the engagement at once, and don't accept another ring until you can forsake all others.

Dear Nola - Should a girl get as much education as a boy?

Irene

Dear Irene - Recently a friend of mine divorced and was left with the care of two children. Another became a widow and was left with three. Another's husband was disabled in a fall. Not one of these women was prepared to support a family because each had abandoned her education to get married. Their struggles are pitiful to see. It is my strong belief that every girl should get the education and training necessary to make a comfortable living. If she is a licensed beauty operator, a registered nurse, a trained school teacher or social worker, she has something better than an insurance policy. She is prepared for any emergency no matter how much she hopes to devote her entire life to the care of a husband and family.

Dear Nola - I have always been good friends with my daughter-in-law and have often kept my grandchildren—a girl, 8, and a boy, 6. Suddenly, for no reason at all,

SELF ANALYSIS QUIZ

Are You Making A Man Of Your Son?

By Jane Sherrod Singer

To do anything well requires practice. Nothing is so difficult as growing up and assuming the responsibilities of adulthood. Are you guilty, as a parent, of keeping your boy in mental "diapers"—of letting him hide behind your skirts or coat-tails?

- | | YES | NO |
|---|-----|-----|
| 1. Do you often blame the school, the police, the neighbors, when your son gets into trouble? | () | () |
| 2. Did you feel sad when your boy had his first hair cut? | () | () |
| 3. If there were a sudden slight change in weather, would you rush to school or to work to give you son appropriate clothing? | () | () |
| 4. Do you have your boy's baby pictures and/or other mementos of him on display in the house? | () | () |
| 5. Do you secretly or openly dislike the girls he likes? | () | () |
| 6. Do you give him money when he asks for it instead of a regular allowance? | () | () |
| 7. Do you think your boy is too young or inefficient to help around the home? | () | () |
| 8. Do you discourage his participating in physical sports? | () | () |
| 9. Are you annoyed when your boy comes in dirty? | () | () |
| 10. Do you try to make decisions for your son in most matters? | () | () |

DESIRABLE ANSWERS: All should be NO. 8 to 10 correct no-answers: You are allowing your boy to grow up and to stand on his own feet. "A man must stand erect; not be kept erect by others." Marcus Aurelius. 4 to 7 correct no-answers: It seems that you are being overly protective of your boy, fearful of his errors. "You cannot teach a child to take care of himself unless you will let him try to take care of himself. He will make mistakes and out of these mistakes will come his wisdom." Harriet Beecher Stowe. 0 to 3 correct no-answers: You are unwittingly stunting the normal emotional growth of your son just as surely as the ancient Chinese controlled the foot size of their women by binding their feet. . . . Use guidance with your boy, but let him practice the fine art of living with as little embarrassment as possible. "Youth is the opportunity to do something and to become somebody." T. T. Munger.

July 22, 1965

Beth has become insanely jealous of the children's affection for me. Is this a common problem? What should I do?

Shut Out

Dear Shut Out - From what I hear this problem is far from common. Most daughters-in-law are delighted to have a built-in baby sitter like Grandma. I'd suggest you go along with Beth cheerfully. Leave her strictly alone and let her make the first move at resuming the old relationship. If you ignore her, she'll come around bringing the children.

Dear Nola - My daughter has been going with a young man quite some time. Every time walk into the room, she's patting his hair, or strightening his tie, or something. This is embarrassing. Don't you think they should wait until they're alone to do such things?

Mother

Dear Mother - They were alone until you walked into the room. Don't you think you should knock before entering?

TAKE YOUR PROBLEMS TO CHURCH THIS WEEK

Millions Leave Them There!

A CALL TO WORSHIP

The bell is an instrument of many moods. It tolls dirges, peels out joyous tidings, sounds alarms and gives forth music. Though the telephone and siren have replaced the bell in many of its previous uses, down through the centuries it served to broadcast messages to whole communities. It alerted the neighborhood to fire and disaster. It called the farmer from his labors. Probably its most noble, fitting and proper function was that of calling man to worship. It is appropriate that it should be used even now for that purpose.

As with the bell, some things never become out of style, are never replaced. These include love, faith and above all God. The Church is the instrument for interpreting these and guiding man in rightful living, a calling which will never become outmoded or unneeded by humankind.
